FOURTEEN RELATIVE DAYS / EDITORIAL PLAN

Make the release a conversation.

A practical sequence that introduces the idea, deepens interest, supports participation and leaves room to learn.

THE CITY HAS A HOLD ON YOU. / NON-VIDEO CAMPAIGN

PLANNING DOCUMENT · NO POSTS SCHEDULED OR PUBLISHED

Day 01 is the day the host chooses to begin, after final asset review. This plan creates no automation and assigns no calendar date. Keep one primary social channel and one accessible collection page; use additional channels only when someone can respond there.

01 / Before Day 01

- □ Open every delivered file and check it on desktop and phone.
- □ Verify current availability against the official Steam page.
- □ Confirm source credits and distinguish original art from actual gameplay imagery.
- □ Upload the final collection and files to the chosen destination, then test every link.
- □ Select the host account and moderator for Streetlight Stories.
- □ Decide which platform metrics and own-page events can actually be measured.

> CHALLENGE TIMING
> Publish the challenge on Day 08. Its five-day window closes exactly 120 hours after that post's timestamp, on Day 13 at the corresponding time. Complete review and permission checks before sharing any selected work. If permission is still pending on Day 14, publish Post 12 without submissions and share an approved gallery later.

02 / The sequence

DAY / THEME	CHANNEL	CONTENT	ACTION	REVIEW
01 Open the campaign	Primary social account + campaign page	Post 01 · KV-01	Name one visual detail that caught your eye.	Reach; meaningful replies per impression.
02 Answer the first question	Primary account; pinned information	Post 02 · INFO-01	Read the official game-status source.	Official-link clicks where measurable; recurring access questions.
03 Infernus	Primary account + character discussion	Post 03 · HERO-01	Choose look, movement or attitude.	Shares/saves per impression; character-specific replies.
04 Read the action	Carousel-capable channel + guide page	Post 04 · PLAY-01	Save the five-panel primer; ask one question.	Saves; panel completion if available; questions answered.
05 Dynamo	Primary account + community thread	Post 05 · HERO-02	Tell a memorable team-play story.	Substantive replies; return participants.
06 Ivy	Primary account	Post 06 · HERO-03	Share a teammate moment with appropriate credit.	Story replies; shares; moderation load.
08 Open Streetlight Stories	One original community thread	Post 08 · COMMUNITY-01 + full rules	Reply with one own-capture image and a short caption.	Eligible entries; distinct contributors; questions.
09 Help people participate	Reply to the original challenge thread	Post 09 · COMMUNITY-01	Improve framing; submit to the original thread.	Corrected entries; eligible-entry rate; host response time.
10 Give something useful	Campaign page + primary account	Post 10 · WALL-01	Download the appropriate wallpaper format.	Wallpaper downloads; link clicks; saves.
11 Make the kit easy to use	Campaign page + creator-facing post	Post 11 · KIT-01	Open the factsheet or download the delivered kit.	Factsheet visits; kit downloads; source questions.
12 Converse and check	Existing threads; no required new post	Reply library + current FAQs	Answer open questions; direct interested people to existing pieces.	Unanswered questions; factual corrections; repeat participation.
13 Close and review entries	Original challenge thread + host log	Closure message + scoring sheet	Explain that the five-day window has ended.	Eligible count; complete reviews; permission requests.
14 Invite the next chapter	Primary account + campaign page	Post 12 · series recap	Name the piece that stayed with you.	Favorite-piece responses; shares; full campaign review.

03 / A small, honest measurement sheet

MEASURE	DEFINITION	WHAT IT TELLS YOU
Useful engagement rate	(Shares + saves + substantive replies) ÷ impressions × 100, where those metrics exist.	Which pieces generate attention beyond passive viewing. Compare within the same channel.
Click-through rate	Recorded link clicks ÷ impressions × 100 for a given post.	Whether the message creates enough interest to leave the feed.
Collection action rate	Sessions with a chosen download or official-link click ÷ collection sessions × 100.	Whether the page helps interested readers take a useful next step.
Eligible participation rate	Eligible challenge entries ÷ submitted entries × 100.	Whether the prompt and rules are clear.
Return participation	Distinct public contributors who join more than one campaign conversation.	Whether the collection is building sustained interest.
Factual corrections	Count and description of verified corrections made.	What needs stronger checking in the next edition.

Record unavailable metrics as not available, not zero. Separate paid and organic distribution if any advertising is later authorized. Use the first releases as a baseline; do not invent numerical targets or guaranteed outcomes.

04 / Review rhythm

AFTER EACH RELEASE

Check broken links, legibility and factual questions first. Respond to useful comments. Note the time of measurement so comparisons use a similar age since publication.

AT DAY 07

Review the first six posts. Identify which message and asset family drew the clearest responses. Adjust the next captions without changing the campaign identity.

AT DAY 14

Record strongest pieces, common questions, actual participation and work that took more effort than expected. Recommend one focused follow-up theme.

AFTER A CORRECTION

Update the affected file, page and pinned information. Add a brief correction where the original claim was published; keep the source register aligned.

05 / Measurement boundary

Own-page activity and public-platform engagement can support this fan campaign's evaluation. Official game wishlists, purchases and activations require appropriate Steamworks reporting access. Steam's UTM documentation also excludes Playtest app conversion reporting. Do not infer game acquisition from a click.
